

Make a gift for those you want to please

Cut out the hearts and trace them on a firmer coloured or white paper. You can also colour the hearts, stick stickers on them, write signs on them or otherwise decorate them. Then cut the hearts out again and use them to make a gift, a decoration or even a unique card for someone you want to make happy.

1. Heart sticks

For one heart stick you need 1 skewer, 2 paper hearts of the same size and a glue stick. You may also use a ribbon.

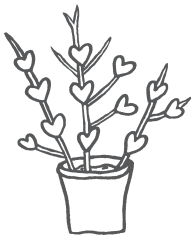

Smear one side of one heart with glue, put a skewer on it (see the image) and cover it with the second heart, so that the skewer between the two hearts is sealed. You can also tie a bow from a nice ribbon under the heart. Then put the heart stick into a flower pot, but be careful not to damage the roots of your plant.

A tip

Instead of skewers you may also use twigs and put them into a vase filled with water. In winter, they will maybe even start sprouting leaves.

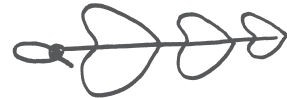

2. Heart decorations

For one heart decoration you need paper hearts in 3 sizes, two pieces of each size. Then a string or a ribbon about 30 cm long and a glue stick.

Make a knot at one end of the string, so that a loop is formed.

Smear one side of the first 3 hearts with glue, line them up and lay the string on them.

Then cover the hearts with the 3 remaining hearts – the same size for each – so that the string is hidden between them. Finally press the hearts together, smooth them – and your decoration is ready to be hung.

3. Heart garlands

First decide with your parents, where the best place to hang the garland will be. Between two window knobs? On two hooks? Somewhere else? For one heart garland you need a string as long as you wish, several pairs of paper hearts (depending on the length of your string) and a glue stick.

Make a knot at each end of the string, so that a loop is formed.

Glue hearts on the string in a similar way as for the heart decorations. Only the string must pass through the hearts horizontally this time.

A tip

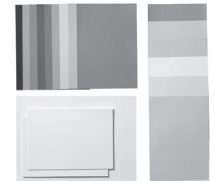

If you have a puncher at home, you may also punch two holes into each heart and thread the string through the hearts.

MÅLA
Watercolour box

MÅLA
Scissors

MÅLA
Paper, mixed colours and sizes

