Taking care of your kitchen the right way is very important!

We recommend these ten simple & safe ways to take care for your IKEA kitchen.

1. Choose your cleaning cloths wisely

To clean cabinets, the best choice is soft cloths that are lint-free. Great types of cloths to use are soft fabrics such as microfiber.

TIP: Avoid using a used dishcloth or sponge. They carry residue and chemicals that can damage the cabinet surface.

2. Avoid abrasive cleaning solvents

When cleaning your cabinets, use natural products that won't scratch the cabinet finish or leave sticky residues. Avoid using any cleaning products that contain ammonia, and avoid any abrasive cleaners such as powdered cleaners.

TIP: Mild, grease-cutting hand washing dish soap makes an ideal cabinet cleaner.

3. Use mild detergent

You can make your own cabinet cleaning soap easily with ingredients you already have at home. Mix 2 tablespoons of dish soap into 2 cups of warm water. You can also use a mixture of vinegar and water. Apply the mild cleaning detergent of your choice to your cabinets using a clean, soft cloth.

TIP: If using a commercial cleaning product, buy one made specifically for wood cabinets.

4. Wipe Cabinets with mild soap and water

While mild soap and water is the preferred solution for cleaning all kitchen cabinet types and finishes, too much moisture is an enemy of wood and wood finishes. For the best results, apply a mixture of soap and water using a soft cloth. Then, rinse the cabinet with clean, fresh water using a second clean cloth to remove detergent residue.

TIP: To avoid water damage, use a third clean, dry cloth to dry the cabinet right away.

5. Use baking soda for difficult stains

For tough stains, some water spots respond to white toothpaste or baking soda. Use a wet cloth to clean the cabinet surface, while being careful not to scratch or otherwise damage the surface. Test the cleaner on the interior of the cabinet before you use it on the cabinet exterior for best results.

TIP: For problem areas with built-up grease or food, try an emulsifying cleaner such as an oil soap.

6. Limit exposure to moisture

Avoid splashing water over your kitchen cabinets and cabinet fronts. If exposed to moisture, wipe dry after every use with soft absorbent cloth to avoid damage. Be especially mindful of the area around the sink. Wipe the area dry after each time you wash the dishes.

TIP: Dry wet dishcloths or towels in the dryer rather than leaving them to hang on cabinets or cabinet doors.

7. Avoid staining and discoloration

To keep cabinets looking their best, follow best basic care practices. Immediately clean up any spills, splatters, or water spots with a soft cloth. The sooner you spot clean, the less chance of staining or discoloring the cabinetry. Grease and food particles, especially spices like chili, paprika and turmeric also become more difficult to remove over time.

TIP: Removing dried-on residue may require tough scrubbing and a harsh cleaner. Be careful not to damage the cabinet finish.

8. Don't overlook cabinet tops

One part of the cabinetry that is sometimes overlooked is the tops of cabinets, which do collect dust. Although cabinet tops do not need cleaning as often as the front surfaces, they should be cleaned regularly—at least every other week, and more often if you cook regularly.

TIP: Dust can mix with oil and grease. Avoid build-up by regularly cleaning the tops of your cabinets.

9. Use kitchen appliances carefully

Be mindful of the impact some appliances may have on your kitchen – especially the ones producing steam. Do not place pressure cookers, electric kettles and free-standing cooktops directly below the wall cabinets. Consistent exposure to steam may damage the cabinets above over the time.

TIP: Place all appliances like that in the open space on the kitchen worktop or under the extractor hood/chimney if applicable.

10. Use shelf and drawer liners

Over time multiple movement in/out of the cabinet and drawer may scratch the surface. Every time you open the drawer things inside might slide and potential damage the drawer – especially knives and heavy pots and pans (particularly, cast iron). It is advisable to use protective liner on shelves and drawers to minimize the wearing off over time.

TIP: There is a variety of different liners available: parchment paper, plastic, felt, etc. We recommend plastic or felt, which would help you also avoid things sliding in the drawers.

Our recommendation

We recommend to use a dish drainer or dish drying mat to place your washed dishes.

In IKEA we have a wide range of dish drainers that have removable tray underneath to collect water from washed dishes and drying mats to avoid your kitchen countertop to get wet.

Here is a quick guide to help you select the right cleaning supplies when taking care of your IKEA kitchen.
